CITY BUDGET FOR NEXT YEAR SHOWS INCREASE

UP 19 CENTS OVER THIS YEARS FIGURES. UP
$31,000

The 1957 Budget for the civil city of Greencastle has been made up. It shows an increase of 19 cents over the budget as the council started it a year ago. It was started at $1.89 and ended up with a $1.70 cents for all funds. This year the funds starts with $1.89, and where it will end up, is not known. This increase is in addition to a boost in the valuations from $6,544,385 to $6,800,000. It is expected that most of the increase will go for salaries which were boosted for city officials and for next year the employees will receive an increase.

The total of $1.89 is made up of: $1.68 for general fund; .12c for the park fund; .03 for bond and interest; .03 for police and interest; .03 for police and port, making a total of $1.89.

If this levy stands, it will bring in a total of $128,558.63, as against a total of $120,703.13 for 1957 budget. Most of the increase shown above comes from the general funds, which shows proposed increase from $105,842.05 to $114,074.63.

The total reached in the 1957 budget exceeds that of 1955 by more than $31,000.

IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS

GREENCASTLE NAMES — (Mrs. Grace Newby has contributed the following poem to the "Good Old Days.")

Putting Greencastle, on our private Historical Map

Names, which we historically cherish;

Which will never from our memories, perish—

"Gobin," the name we love to hear—

Of dear old "Dr."—brings us cheer;

"Longdon," second, only, in name—

Also, brought, to our college, fame.

Jesse Weik, of historical fame

Appeared also, in the name—

Of Carrie Weik Hays;

Who taught us music, in our school days

Jackson Boyd, who made us known—

Is near, in memory, tho now gone.

Stephenson, Edington and Frank Hays

Who stand out, in different ways

Crandall, who can relate—

His "Battle"—bring it, almost, up to date

Tho, with us yet—

Will, a future memory, be;

To whom, we're in debt

For later history.

LITTLE WALNUT—"A post-office called 'Little Walnut' has just been established in this (Putnam) county. It is at Morrison's Mill in Clinton township, about 7 miles from Greencastle, on the road leading to Portland Mills." (1860)

GREENCASTLE MARKET—"Dressed chickens were sold in the Greencastle market last week at 6½c per pound. But few places afford a better market for the products of the country than Greencastle." (1861)

SHOE CARE—"Shoes or boots will wear much longer, be easier, and keep your feet dryer, if they are well saturated with a mixture made as follows: one pint boiled linseed oil, two ounces of bees-wax, one ounce of rosin, one ounce oil of turpentine." (1861)

HOMES NEEDED—"Let some of our capitalists contract for the building of a number of houses of the class desired—say, to cost about $300, or $350, and we will guarantee that they will receive a good interest on the amount of money invested. A number of good citizens would locate in our midst if they could procure residences. When fair weather commences we hope to see all of our carpenters at work in erecting dwelling houses." (1861)

Michael, met and organized with Otis Sanders, President; Virgil Wood, Secretary; Rex Boyd of Greencastle and Bell and Bell of Indianapolis were present as attorneys

Farm Hand Is Lodged In Jail

A man who took a farm tractor in the early hours Saturday morning to call on his ex-wife landed in the Putnam County jail a 3 a. m. charged with public intoxication by State Trooper Howard Brackney of the Putnamville Post.

Brackney reported that he was called out about 1 a. m. to look for a man believed to have stolen a tractor and who had left it at the first house south of U. S. 40 on the west side of Ind. 43.

According to the officer, Joe Campbell, 37, had taken the tractor from the farm where he works, south of Cloverdale, and had driven it north on 43 to his ex-wife's home.

Warren Archer, who rents a trailer on the farm, saw Campbell get off the tractor and start running. The state police were notified and Brackney went to the scene and started looking for Campbell. When he was about a half-mile north of the house, Brackney heard a shot and when he returned he found Archer and Campbell in an argument. Brackney said it was Archer who had shot believing Campbell had stolen the tractor and was attempting to make a getaway. Trooper Brackney then brought Campbell to the county jail and booked him for public intoxication.

Negroes Register To Vote In South

ATLANTA, Ga. (UP)—More Negroes are registered to vote in the South today than ever before and the number is growing steadily. But they still lag far behind the white voters.

Negro leaders say the fact that only 25 per cent of the eligible members of their race are registered to vote is largely due to discrimination. About 60 per cent of eligible southern whites are registered.

Many southern officials—all of them white—attribute the low Negro registration to a low educational level among Negroes. In other words, fewer Negroes than whites are able to meet state-prescribed voter qualifications.

In its latest survey, the privately-financed Southern Regional Council reported that at least 1,238,000 Negroes in 13 southern states are registered among a Negro voting population of nearly five-million. This is a gain of nearly a quarter million since 1952.

The storm center of the Negro voting controversy is the county registrar of voters who in some states—like Louisiana and Mississippi—is given broad latitude in determining to pass qualifications tests. Other states, such as Florida and Georgia, have more specific laws.

A registrar in Mississippi, for example, can rule a person unqualified to vote if he fails to interpret a given section of the Constitution to the official's satisfaction. Under new voter laws, an essay on good citizenship is also a requirement for a new Mississippi voter registrant.

Gov. J. P. Coleman insists that Negroes as a race are not denied the right to vote in Mississippi and says the reason for their low registration, estimated at 25,000 last year, is that others are simply not qualified.

Georgia now lets any law-abiding citizen who can read and write a section of the Constitution register. If he cannot meet this requirement, he can still get on voter rolls by answering at least 100 of 300 questions. Examples: Who is the President? How many U. S. senators are there from Georgia?

"Negroes are not denied the right to vote in Georgia," says Gov. Marvin Griffin, an unwavering segregationist.

In Atlanta and other metropolitan areas, Negro registration is heavy, but in two Georgia counties with a total Negro population of more than 3,000, not a single one is a registered voter. Two years ago, officials in Randolph County, Ga., purged some 600 Negro voters from the Court injunction, 125 gained their voting rights again on grounds they were removed solely because of color.

Sen. Richard Russell has used the case to back up arguments that voters who are discriminated against are adequately protected under present laws.

The fear that Negro bloc voting might swing the balance of power in local elections has touched off scattered efforts in the South to purge voters and ward off heavy registration in the future. White citizens councils attempted this in some Louisiana counties with considerable success, but in one instance it backfired.

In Minden, La., Mrs. Winnie Clement, 58, a county registrar, began administering the registration laws in what she regarded as a non-discriminatory manner. The first dozen voters she bounced off the rolls were white.

One of the most direct assaults against Negro voting majorities was launched this summer at Tuskegee, Ala., where the state Legislature altered city boundaries to push out but 10 Negro voters beyond the city limits. Another bill is pending which would abolish Macon County, predominantly populated by Negroes, and divide it among five neighboring counties.

In Virginia, even the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People concedes that "In most cases, Negroes are not denied the right to vote." Virginia and four other southern states still have poll taxes, one of the big deterrents to registration by Negroes in low economic classes.

Negroes in Richmond, Va., have doubled their voting strength since 1945 and their votes came close to electing a member of their race to the state Legislature this summer.

"The embarrassing fact is that Negroes voted on July 9 at approximately double the rate at which white voters turned out," said the Richmond News-Leader.

CHECKS BLOOD DONORS

Mrs. Willard Sunkel, as chairman of the Committee in the Blood Donor program of the Associate Chapter, Tri-Kappa Sorority, was in the Red Cross office Friday, Aug. 2nd and picked up the blood donor list. She and her helpers are to check the persons desiring to donate blood, type, condition of donor, etc and bring the list up to date. This will be a most valuable service for our local hospital in particular and the community in general.

Few are aware of the enormous task this associate sorority, under Mrs. Sunkel's leadership accomplished. One project they fulfill six times a year is assisting the bloodmobile unit from the Veterans Administration Hospital from Indianapolis in collection of blood from the State Farm.

Last week something like 202 men participated in this activity. One thousand and eighty-two pints of blood have been secured from this source in the past year.

We owe this public spirited group of civic minded women of our community a vote of sincere thanks.

Teamsters Will Oppose Meany

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Teamsters' Union began lining up support today for an apparent attack on the prestige and leadership of AFL-CIO President George Meany.

Back of the move was Teamster Vice President James R. Hoffa, next in line for the presidency of the 1,500,000-member trucking union.

The Teamsters Friday threatened to pull out of the AFL-CIO unless there are major changes in Meany's program to end jurisdictional disputes between the building trades unions and the industrial unions.

The Hoffa-led drive to discredit Meany's efforts will come at a convention of the AFL-CIO Building Trades Department opening Monday in Atlantic City, N. J.

ning of most hands. If you know their habits, you can take advantage of them.

West opened the jack of hearts when this hand was played in a team match recently. In the first room, South won with the king of hearts and led a low diamond toward dummy's jack.

East won with the ace of diamonds and returned a trump. This gave West the chance to take two spades and lead a third trump. South eventually had to lose another diamond, and his vulnerable game vanished.

There was a different story to tell when Edgar Kaplan, my favorite partner, held the South cards. He swindled the opponents out of a diamond trick by using their habits for his own advantage.

Kaplan won the first trick in dummy with the ace of hearts and led the jack of diamonds. Simple, but very effective.

East smoothly played a low diamond, hoping that South was going to lose a finesse to a queen. That's what a defender practically always does when a jack is led through his ace.

Dummy's jack of diamonds held the trick, of course, and Kaplan continued with the other diamond. East had to take his ace this time, and the party was over. The defenders got only one diamond trick, and Kaplan made the game.

This deceptive play risked nothing. If West happened to hold the ace of diamonds, he would merely get the first diamond trick instead of the second. If East held the ace, he might be deceived. If East took the first diamond, he would get only what he was entitled to. In short, the play might gain, but couldn't lose.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner deals and bids one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: S-J 3 H-A 5 4 2 D-J 7 3 C-J 8 7 3. What do you say?

Answer: Bid one no-trump. The hand is worth one response, but you cannot raise with only two trumps, and you cannot afford to bid a new suit at the level of two.

SEEK A SUBSTITUTE

IOWA CITY, Iowa. —(UP)—Iowa researchers have been looking for a way to substitute the lunch box for the rocking chair.

They've got nothing against the rockers. It's only that they think older folks would be happier if they spent some of their late years working instead of rocking.

The problem has special significance in Iowa because the state has a higher proportion of residents over 65 than any other state.

The nation has 4,500 persons older than 100 according to U. S. Census Bureau, and 424 or about ten per cent of them live in Iowa. The researchers have been trying to explain that phenomenon. But no luck so far.

The new study is under the supervision of the University of Iowa's Institute of Gerontology and has a proper setting.

Dr. Woodrow W. Morris, who heads the institute, drives a "model A" Ford and works in one of the oldest buildings on the campus.

The outward trappings belie the youthful Morris' "up-to-date" outlook toward his problems.

Morris said people "don't plan for retirement." People "don't want to get old and don't want to retire" so they make no provisions, he said.

"My father was one of those who didn't plan," he said.

"He was a teacher in Michigan when he was told he would have to retire," Morris said. "He just didn't know what to do with himself the first year of his retirement but he was saved when there was a shortage of teachers. The school board offered him another chance to teach."

"That was 10 years ago, and he just recently signed another year's contract to teach mathematics," Morris said.

It's relatively easier for teachers and professional men to face retirement because they can "taper off" with lighter teaching loads and curtailed professional practices, Morris said.

"However, it's not easy for the factory workers who are just let out of the job at 65 and have nothing else to fall back on," he said.

"We cling to the idea of youth in the face of studies which show older workers have less absenteeism and accidents," he said.

"As the country's population grows older, industry will be forced to reevaluate its ideals and will probably come to the point when they can't keep up production," Morris said.

"Industry just has to realize that some people are old at 50 while others are alert and fully capable at 75," he said.

GEORGE NEAR DEATH

VIENNA, Ga. (UP)—Former U. S. Sen. Walter F. George lingered near death today with doctors convinced the 79-year-old foreign affairs expert can no longer rally in his fight against a heart ailment.

Dr. Martin L. Malloy, George's family physician, said after a visit with the former "dean" of the Senate Friday night, "His heart is growing weaker."

"We no longer have any hope that he will rally," he said. "It is very difficult to give up hope. His condition is deteriorating rapidly."

held with the First Baptist

MAMIE ENDS VACATION
DENVER (UP) — Mamie Eisenhower ended her six-day
Denver vacation today.
Mrs. Eisenhower will observe her son John's 35th birthday in the capital city later today, one of the main reasons for the flight.
She arrived in Denver on Monday on her first visit in her home town since the President's 1955 heart attack.

STOCKTON, Calif. (UP) — Amos Alonzo Stagg, the dean of America's football coaches, will be 95 years old this month—but he still keeps busy. When a Mid-Western company recently sent him a power lawn mower, Stagg shipped it back without even taking it out of the crate. He explained that he got his exercise pushing his oldstyle mower.

IRKED WITH ENVOY
HAVANA (UP) — The government bloc in Congress demanded today that the United States recall Ambassador Earl E. T.
Smith from Cuba because his "interference in this country's affairs" makes him a "disturbing agent."

A bill introduced Friday by pro-government Sen. Ernesto Rossi crystallized official indignation over Smith's comment that the police precautions he found in rebel-infested Santiago were "repugnant."

SAFETY REGULATION
WASHINGTON (UP) — The government has issued new regulations requiring that refrigerators be equipped with safety devices to prevent children from being trapped in them and suffocating.

The regulations, announced Friday by the Commerce Department, will apply to all refrigerators shipped in interstate commerce after Oct. 30, 1958. They require that all refrigerator doors must be able to open from the inside.

WILL COACH HOOSIERS
BLOOMINGTON, (UP) — Line Coach Bob Hicks today prepared to take over Indiana's football fortunes in place of Phil Dickens, tagged with a one-year suspension for violating the new Big Ten code of aid to athletes.
Athlete Director Frank Allen announced Friday Hicks had been selected as acting head coach for the 1957 season by the university's faculty — alumni committee. Allen recommended Hicks, who turned down a chance last winter to become head coach at Wyoming to remain as Dickens' assistant.

FRONT and CENTER!

Front and center in this little community stands the Church.

Your church may not be so centrally located but all that it stands for is front and center in your community life:

The worship of the God who made us and all that exists...

The teaching of love and unselfishness as the highest good for all men...

The preaching of the worth and dignity of each individual...

The motivation for service in the community...

The battle against evil in high places and low...

Your community needs the Church and all that it stands for—front and center! And the Church needs you!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship.
It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
